Space Capital Club finalizes an investment in Adler Ortho S.p.A.

- Adler Ortho is a biomedical company active in the design and production of orthopedic prostheses and medical devices for complex surgical procedures
- A pioneer in additive manufacturing technology (3D printing), Adler Ortho has a wide pipeline of highly innovative products, thanks to significant investments in R&D
- The financial resources provided by Space Capital Club, entirely through a dedicated capital increase, will be aimed at strengthening the commercial international presence of the group

Space Capital Club, the club deal platform promoted by Space Holding, on December 30th, 2020 finalized an investment in Adler Ortho S.p.A., a biomedical company active in the design and production of high-tech orthopedic prostheses for complex surgical implants mainly for hip and knee joint replacement.

The transaction consisted in the subscription of a minority stake equal to 35% of the company's share capital through a reserved capital increase of Euro 22 million in favor of a vehicle, Space Orion S.p.A., specifically set up by Space Capital Club shareholders.

Founded in 2004 by the Cremascoli family, which boasts over 50 years of experience in the orthopedics sector, and led today by the second generation represented by Edgardo and Davide, sons of the founder Patrizio Cremascoli, Adler Ortho is based in Cormano (Milan), and has 3 production plants in Italy.

Adler Ortho recorded a turnover of approximately Euro 40 million in 2019, with an EBITDA margin of 16%. The company has a work force of approximately 150 people and a consolidated international presence; in fact, about 50% of the turnover is recorded abroad and in particular in France, Japan and the UK.

A pioneer in additive manufacturing technology (3D printing), Adler Ortho was the first player in the industry to adopt this technology on an industrial scale and is characterized by a broad pipeline of highly innovative products, particularly in the field of revision and limb salvage (for example for oncological interventions or for severe trauma).

The company also benefits from consolidated scientific collaborations with some of the world's most renowned centers of clinical excellence in the orthopedic field such as Oxford University Hospital, Rizzoli Orthopedic Institute in Bologna, Université de Toulouse and Cleveland Clinic in the USA.

The financial resources contributed by Space Capital Club's shareholders will enable Adler Ortho to expand its commercial presence of the company both on a national and international levels, in particular in the United States where new products are currently under approval by the FDA. Thanks to this capital injection, Adler Ortho will be able to capitalize on the effort
